

Liaison Service for People with Learning Disabilities

(information valid at time of writing – 04.05.20)

Learning Disabilities Services

The liaison learning disability service is still up and running; we have just had to adapt the way we work to keep everyone safe following government guidelines. We remain committed to providing support to those individuals with a learning disability.

Please continue to contact us when someone with a learning disability is admitted to hospital, has an outpatient appointment or needs support accessing primary care.
